Message from the Dean

Susan J. Schurman, Ph.D.

The University College Community held its Dean's Reception November 7, 2007 at Traves Hall. Adult and Nontraditional students were greeted by Dean Susan Schurman after brief talks from Dr. Furmanski, Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs and Dr. Michael Beals, Vice Dean of SAS. Michelle Brazier, Executive Associate, represented Dr. Barry Qualls, Vice President for Undergraduate Education.

During the reception, Dean Schurman listened to feedback from students after their round table discussions with UCC staff members about the following question:

What practical steps can Rutgers take to support your academic success?

Students were candid in their responses, providing insight into better ways of helping them with specific issues faced by adult and non-traditional students at Rutgers.

Students provided the following insights:

They mentioned that they felt somewhat isolated and disconnected and to remedy this, they envisioned an "area" specifically dedicated to adult students where they could study and meet other students experiencing what they experienced.

Other suggestions were:

- Putting together non-traditional study groups
- Providing CAC parking
